Silver works in harmony with the immune and digestive systems. Silver has a rich history of naturally cleansing yeast, bacteria, fungus and mold from the body.

Silver bonds the nanosized silver molecules within the water molecule which results in a pure, stable and safe effective product to support the body in many ways.

Silver has long been known for its antibacterial properties. It has been used to treat wounds, infections, and other medical conditions. Silver nanoparticles have been found to be effective against a wide range of bacteria.

NanoSilver Powder uses the most advanced form of pH Balanced Alkaline Structured Silver. NanoSilver molecules are nanosized and energetically bonded to structured water molecules that will not separate, fall out of solution or cause any adverse effects such as Argyria.

NanoSilver Powder works in harmony with the body and does not metabolize in the body. Meaning that it does not put any additional workload on either the immune or digestive systems in order to be used by the body.
